Latest News from Fates Warning

A New Video

The first video from Fates' new album, Perfect Symmetry, has just been completed, and it's their best project yet! "Through Different Eyes" premiered on MTV during the Head-Bangers Ball on October 14. Flood those MTV telephone lines for your video request!

The New Album

In the first three weeks of its release, Perfect Symmetry has sold close to 15,000 units already, and it's still going strong thanks to all of you. If your local store doesn't have the album in stock yet, be sure to ask for it.

Accept No Substitutes

You may have tried to join one before...but this is the first and only official Fates Warning fan club, and now is your chance to become a member. The Annual Fee entitles you to a special edition FW logo tee-shirt (not available anywhere else), a FW logo pin, an autographed photo of the band, our quarterly newsletter, and tour information.

Dear Member,

Thanks to you and everyone who has written, we have finally gotten the Fates Warning Fan Club going.

So take a moment to fill out the form, and join!!

But wait, there's more — a 10% discount on all merchandise offered through the Ivory Tower.

You'll find a membership application and merchandise order form included with this newsletter. We'll be expanding the merchandise lineup soon, and if you join now, your members' discount will be good for all new items, too!

All Quiet on the Western Front

Behind the lines, there is all sorts of exciting activity going on for Fates Warning. Unfortunately, this means that as the Ivory Tower goes to press, we still have no accurate tour dates to publish (the darn things keep changing). But worry not, because everyone who has written to the band has been entered into our tour notification database. We'll notify you by mail in advance of Fates Warning appearances in your area.
